A photograph of a restaurant interior. The scene is viewed through a large window with dark frames. In the foreground, several tables are set with green and white striped tablecloths. The chairs have a light-colored fabric with a dark, intricate paisley or floral pattern. In the background, there are several large, potted green plants. The ceiling is decorated with large, starburst-shaped light fixtures made of thin, radiating rods, each holding multiple warm-toned light bulbs. The overall atmosphere is bright and modern.
